Tyler County Commissioners Court agrees to waive the permits and fees only to the temporary housing unit for the 18-month period beginning the date of the Presidential Declaration, as well as the Base Flood Elevation (BFE) requirement in order to expedite the process of getting those affected back to normalcy as soon as possible. This waiver would apply to temporary housing unit extensions beyond the 18-month initial period, if the housing extensions are authorized by FEMA and TxGLO.

Persons are still required to get a Waiver Permit to display on the temporary residence, and this does not exempt those with substantial Damage or Improvement Permitting and NFIP required permitting for the permanent structure they are displaced from while rebuilding.

Other permits that may be required as usual.

An elevation certificate is waived for the temporary structure for a period of 18 months but if it becomes permanent after the 18 months that the elevation certification will be required.

The DETCOG, FEMA, and GLO must make sure the residents are aware that the structure is prone to flood damage in future events and will be remedied between them and FEMA who requested the waiver.

Temporary Housing Assistance

The following questions were presented by The Texas Department of Emergency Management office for the General Land Office (GLO) and Federal Land Office,

- Will your jurisdiction allow mobile homes and/or recreational vehicles (RVs) in your jurisdiction? Yes
- Are there permit requirements that FEMA will have to satisfy in order to place these units? Waived if below requirements are followed
- Would your community allow placement in the Special Flood Hazard Area (SFHA – please see attachments for more information)? Yes, Please see below requirements
- Would your community allow occupancy of manufactured housing units (MHUs) and/or RVs without an elevation certificate (EC)? (Requiring an EC will substantially slow down the housing process.) Yes, Please see below requirements
- Would your community allow placement of any MHUs or RVs below base flood elevation (BFE)? Yes, for a period of 18 months beginning at declaration of DR-4332 and approved by DETCOG, GLO, and FEMA.
- Would your community allow blanket permitting for qualified recipients of MHUs or RVs identified by FEMA or GLO? (this would expedite housing assistance in your community) Yes, if below requirements are met.
