Good Morning,

Expenses funded through the CRF must meet eligibility criteria that costs be:

- 1) necessary expenditures due to the public health emergency with respect to the Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19);
- 2) not accounted for in the budget most recently approved as of March 27, 2020 (the date of enactment of the CARES Act) for the State or government;
- 3) incurred and expended during the period that begins March 1, 2020 and ends on December 30, 2020.

Treasury Department guidance notes that jurisdictions are responsible for making determinations as to what expenditures are necessary due to the public health emergency with respect to COVID-19. Additionally, expenditures should only be limited to those that are necessary due to COVID-19. Therefore, CRF funding could be used for these costs if the county makes such a determination and the expense meets the other eligibility criteria. These expenses would fall under Category 2, public health expense.

Hello Michelle,

Our county puts on an annual fair. This year we have talked about adding a few features to prevent the spread of COVID-19 and promote compliance to the guidelines. These are

1. Additional portable bathrooms (abide by bathroom person limits - category four)
2. Tables and chairs (properly socially distanced patrons - category four)
3. Signage (promoting social distancing - category four)
4. Sanitizer stations (disinfection areas - category two)

Agenda

I wanted to touch base with you for guidance if these expenses will qualify for CRF funding. Thank you for your support.

Best,

Andrew

The team came back with this reminder also:

Yes, both of these activities look like they meet the new Treasury requirements. The county would need to be able to show the time spent on these activities, apart from other duties.

Thank you for the call Andrew,

<https://tdem.texas.gov/wp-content/uploads/2019/08/TDEM-FAQ-Coronavirus-Relief-Fund-CRF-v6-091520.pdf>

above is a link to latest guidance in our FAQ sheet.

Question 43 discusses Hazard Pay

On September 2, the Treasury Department released updated guidance that limited which employees could be reimbursed for hazard pay under the CRF. Hazard pay may be covered if it is provided for performing hazardous duty or work involving physical hardship that in each case is related to COVID-19. This means that, whereas payroll and benefits of an employee who is substantially dedicated to mitigating or responding to the COVID-19 public health emergency may generally be covered in full by the CRF, hazard pay specifically may only be covered to the extent it is related to COVID-19.

For example, the CRF may be used to cover hazard pay for a police officer coming in close contact with members of the public to enforce public health or public safety orders, but across-the-board hazard pay for all members of a police department regardless of their duties would not be able to be covered by the CRF.

The Treasury Department also emphasized that the CRF is not intended to provide across-the-board budget support (as would be the case if hazard pay regardless of its relation to COVID-19 were permitted to be covered by the CRF.)

I will also runs this by our team to see if there is any additional comments in regards to this.

A person is not a health care provider merely because his or her employer provides health care services or because he or she provides a service that affects the provision of health care services. For example, IT professionals, building maintenance staff, human resources personnel, cooks, food services workers, records managers, consultants, and billers are not health care providers, even if they work at a hospital of a similar health care facility.

To minimize the spread of the virus associated with COVID-19, the Department encourages employers to be judicious when using this definition to exempt health care providers from the provisions of the FFCRA. For example, an employer may decide to exempt these employees from leave for caring for a family member, but choose to provide them paid sick leave in the case of their own COVID-19 illness.

2. Who is an emergency responder?

For the purposes of Employees who may be excluded from Paid Sick Leave or Expanded Family and Medical Leave by their Employer under the FFCRA, an emergency responder is anyone necessary for the provision of transport, care, healthcare, comfort and nutrition of such patients, or others needed for the response to COVID-19. This includes but is not limited to military or national guard, law enforcement officers, correctional institution personnel, fire fighters, emergency medical services personnel, physicians, nurses, public health personnel, emergency medical technicians, paramedics, emergency management personnel, 911 operators, child welfare workers and service providers, public works personnel, and persons with skills or training in operating specialized equipment or other skills needed to provide aid in a declared emergency, as well as individuals who work for such facilities employing these individuals and whose work is necessary to maintain the operation of the facility. This also includes any individual whom the highest official of a State or territory, including the District of Columbia, determines is an emergency responder necessary for that State's or territory's or the District of Columbia's response to COVID-19.

To minimize the spread of the virus associated with COVID-19, the Department encourages employers to be judicious when using this definition to exempt emergency responders from the provisions of the FFCRA.
